Building Character with

Those of you who are avid football fans should know the name Kurt Warner, and you may also know that he recently moved to our hot and dry desert to play for the Arizona Cardinals. So...what does a football player have to do with Aim Right? I'm glad you asked! Kurt Warner and his wife Brenda are dedicated believers who established First Things First Foundation, a charitable organization guided by Matthew 6:33. Upon the Warners' relocation to Arizona, they began to look for local ministries to bless, discovered Aim Right, and invited us to participate in their Team F.U.N. program.

The acronym F.U.N. stands for "Fundamentals U Need," and refers to the character-building curriculum that Team F.U.N. provides for 7th-9th graders, instilling character through Bible lessons, games, and group activities. Fifteen teens from Aim Right are participating in Team

F.U.N., and each teen has signed a pledge to avoid alcohol, tobacco, drugs, and gang involvement during the year-long program. Aim Right staff also closely monitor each teen's school performance. Each quarter, First Things First funds a "fun" outing for Team F.U.N. participants. In September, the teens enjoyed a ride in a Hummer limousine and a day at an area amusement park. Please pray with us that God will use Team F.U.N. to form character-rich leaders in our community for His glory!

Your Clunker could be
CASH
for Aim Right!

Do you have a vehicle in your driveway that is taking up unnecessary space because its better days are behind it? Your eyesore and headache could be turned into cash to benefit Aim Right Ministries! A local mechanic has volunteered to repair vehicles and then resell them, donating the proceeds to Aim Right. If you might be interested in parting with your clunker, please call the office at (602) 462-1987.

THANK YOU, Contributors!

You have blessed us by your giving to our summer campaigns. Through donations to our Vehicle Fund, we were able to purchase a 1991 Honda Accord with low mileage. If you would like to contribute to these funds, please designate your check accordingly.
